

A map of Tennessee showing its 95 counties. The counties are shaded in various colors, including pink, purple, blue, and green, which likely represent different categories or data points. The counties are labeled with their names: Adams, Anderson, Bedford, Benton, Blount, Bradley, Buchanan, Butcher, Caldwell, Calhoun, Campbell, Cannon, Carter, Caswell, Cass, Cavett, Claiborne, Clay, Clinch, Clifton, Clinton, Cocke, Coffee, Colbert, Collier, Columbia, Davidson, DeKalb, Dickson, Dyer, Fayette, Franklin, Gibson, Giles, Hancock, Harlan, Hardeman, Hardin, Henderson, Hickman, Humphreys, Jackson, Jefferson, Johnson, Jones, Knox, Kosciusko, Lamar, Landon, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Leake, Lee, Lewis, Lincoln, Logan, Lott, Lucas, Madison, Mahan, Marion, Marshall, Martin, Maury, Meigs, Mercer, Morgan, Murray, Nashville, Newton, Nolichucky, Norman, Owsen, Putnam, Raleigh, Rhea, Robertson, Roane, Rowan, Russell, Sevier, Shelby, Smith, Stewart, Sumner, Tipton, Trousdale, Union, Van Buren, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wilkes, Williamson, Windsor, Wood, and York.

